1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US

Pat. No. 5137571 Eisenhart et al..

Eisenhart et al. discloses the instantly claimed compositions of the instant claims 1-5 at the abstract; column 2, lines 24-68; column 3, lines 1-68; column 4, lines 34-68; column 5, lines 1-15; column 6, lines 37-40; column 12, lines 15-68; column 13, lines 30-68; column 14, lines 1-68; column 15, lines 1-22; and the remainder of the document. It is noted that Eisenhart does not refer to these compositions as “tinting compositions”. However, the disclosed compositions contain the instantly claimed ingredients and amounts thereof and are necessarily inherently usable as “tinting compositions” because they are able to be mixed with another paint to “tint” it as understood by all of us who have mixed two different paints together to get a desired color, eg. white paint plus red paint to get pink paint.

3. Claims 1, 3, 5, 6, 8, and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Pat. No. 3917556 Baurecht et al..

Baurecht et al. discloses the instantly claimed tinting compositions at the abstract; column 1, lines 3-68; column 2, lines 1-40 and the remainder of the document. Its addition to paint falls within the scope of the method of the instant claims 6, 8, and 10.

4. Claims 7 and 9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. The method of these claims using the composition claimed is not taught nor suggested by the prior art.

5. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Patrick D. Niland whose telephone number is 703-308-3510. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday to Friday from 10am to 5pm.
